If you do not have a Missal, our bookstore has two different editions. Stop by and see which one you like.

If you do not know how to navigate the Missal, you are in luck: an experienced parishioner has volunteered to help you with a brief individual session! See the note on the bulletin board in the vestibule.

Please know that you and your families are in my prayers, especially at the Altar of Our Lord.

A few announcements:

-Thank you for your continued generosity. The Parish depends on you!

-The building: during the last heavy storm, 3 places in our building had leaks. One thankfully is under warranty. The other two have been leaking for years and need more attention. We'll keep you posted.

-Site engineers have been at work for our renovation of the pavilion/field/playground area in order to obtain necessary permits. The hope is once we have the necessary documents, the area will be fenced off and renovations will begin. Grade stakes have already been placed, please make sure they remain undisturbed.

Pastor's Corner

Dear Parishioners,

One of the caricatures made as an objection to the Latin Mass is that the Priest is up there, his back to the people, speaking a dead language no one understands. No one really knows what he is saying, there is no "active participation" and most people attending have to "suffer" through Mass until they can receive what they came for — Holy Communion...

Of course, we know that the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass (as we are blessed to have it) is precisely that: The greatest and Most Holy Sacrifice. This form of the Sacrifice has made great saints throughout the centuries. It contains a structure and texts used since time immemorial. We participate in this Sacrifice actively and to the greatest extent when, with Our Lady at the foot of the Cross, we unite our hearts to Jesus. This is sealed when we receive Him: Body, Blood, Soul and Divinity.

The questions we should ask ourselves are: Do I make the most of this Holy Sacrifice? Do I prepare for this Holy Sacrifice? Do I follow along as this Mystery is unveiled? Or do I just "suffer" through Mass?

There may be times when you can enter St. Joseph's, close your eyes and get into the zone. You can unite yourself to the Sacrifice in a contemplative way and reap abundant fruits from your union. There will be times when you are distracted or the circumstances may be distracting. To alleviate this, you should always carry with you a most important tool: the hand Missal. Some days, you may need it as far as the words of the Introit and Our Lord will use those words or some others to sweep you off into contemplation. Other days, you will need to follow word for word to ward off distractions and unite yourself to the Sacrifice at the Altar. St Teresa of Avila always took a book with her to mental prayer. Sometimes she would not need it.

The Missal is one of the greatest and most neglected tools in Traditional parishes. It ought to be a guide to worship God in the Most Holy Sacrifice, to keep us
